MICHELLE BOUDIN — ON CAMERA

Communication · Feedback · Adjustment · Composure · Confidence

ESSENTIAL QUESTION

What happens when I receive feedback, make an intentional adjustment and try again?

THIS EXPERIENCE

This week is not about being perfect on camera.

It is about discovering what happens when you:

TRY → RECEIVE FEEDBACK → ADJUST → TRY AGAIN

During the past several weeks, you have practiced:

- using real evidence
- telling professional stories
- answering unexpected questions
- listening before responding
- making a clear point
- supporting an idea
- disagreeing professionally
- responding under pressure
- recovering when you lose your place

Now you will see those skills in action.

Your first attempt is not the final product.

It is evidence.

PART 1 · BEFORE THE CAMERA

Review your Week 11 pre-camera plan.

The communication strength I want to keep:

_____

The habit I want to change:

_____

If I become nervous, I will:

_____

If I lose my place, I will:

_____

If I am challenged, I will:

_____

The message I want people to remember:

_____

_____

PART 2 · MY GOAL

Choose ONE primary communication goal.

[ ] Slow down

[ ] Speak more clearly

[ ] Make stronger eye contact

[ ] Stop rambling

[ ] Use stronger evidence

[ ] Improve posture/body language

[ ] Reduce filler words

[ ] Listen fully before answering

[ ] Give more concise answers

[ ] Recover more confidently

[ ] Sound more natural

[ ] Other: _____

MY GOAL

_____

Why does this matter?

_____

_____

PART 3 · FIRST ATTEMPT

What was I asked?

_____

_____

What point was I trying to communicate?

_____

_____

What evidence or example did I use?

_____

_____

What do I remember happening while I answered?

_____

_____

PART 4 · FIRST-ATTEMPT SELF CHECK

Do this BEFORE receiving feedback.

_____

My face communicated:

_____

My eye contact communicated:

_____

My hands/body movement communicated:

_____

My voice communicated:

_____

Did my body language match my words?

[ ] Yes

[ ] Mostly

[ ] Not yet

Explain:

_____

_____

PART 6 · MICHELLE'S FEEDBACK

Do not try to fix everything.

Listen for what will make the biggest difference.

KEEP

Something I should continue doing:

_____

_____

CHANGE

Something I should adjust:

_____

_____

TRY

Something new I should intentionally try:

_____

_____

The feedback that surprised me:

_____

_____

The feedback I most need to use:

_____

_____

PART 7 · TURN FEEDBACK INTO ACTION

Feedback only becomes valuable when you do something with it.

Feedback:

_____

What does that actually mean I need to DO?

_____

_____

What will that look or sound like?

_____

_____

What will I intentionally change on Attempt 2?

_____

_____

PART 8 · SECOND ATTEMPT PLAN

Before trying again:

_____

_____

What did I intentionally change?

_____

_____

What felt different?

_____

_____

What improved?

_____

_____

What still felt difficult?

_____

_____

PART 10 · COMPARE THE EVIDENCE

ATTEMPT 1

Strongest part:

_____

Needs improvement:

_____

ATTEMPT 2

Strongest part:

_____

Needs improvement:

_____

The clearest improvement between attempts:

_____

_____

What caused that improvement?

_____

_____

PART 11 · THE UNEXPECTED QUESTION

Now the script changes.

QUESTION

_____

_____

My immediate reaction:

_____

What was the question really asking?

_____

What evidence or story did I choose?

_____

How did I respond?

_____

_____

Did I need to recover?

[ ] Yes

[ ] No

If yes, what did I do?

_____

_____

PART 12 · THE FOLLOW-UP

A strong communicator listens to the follow-up instead of repeating the original answer.

Follow-up question:

_____

What new information was being asked for?

_____

How did I adjust my response?

_____

_____

PART 13 · DISCOMFORT

What made me most uncomfortable today?

_____

_____

What did I want to avoid?

_____

What did I do anyway?

_____

What did I learn because I stayed in the experience?

_____

_____

PART 14 · COMPOSURE

Confidence does not mean you never feel nervous.

When did I feel pressure?

_____

What did I do with it?

_____

Did I rush, freeze, ramble or recover?

_____

What helped me regain composure?

_____

What will I remember next time?

_____

PART 15 · WHAT MICHELLE HELPED ME SEE

Something Michelle said that stayed with me:

_____

_____

Something she noticed that I had not noticed:

_____

_____

Something I understand differently now:

_____

_____

One question I would ask her after this experience:

_____

_____

PART 16 · PROFESSIONAL FOLLOW-UP

One specific thing I appreciated:

_____

_____

One piece of feedback I used:

_____

_____

One improvement I experienced:

_____

_____

One sentence I could include in a professional thank-you:

_____

_____

WEEK 12 REFLECTION

BEFORE THE FIRST ATTEMPT...

I thought confidence meant:

_____

_____

AFTER THE SECOND ATTEMPT...

Now I think confidence means:

_____

_____

The hardest moment:

_____

The feedback that mattered most:

_____

The adjustment I made:

_____

The evidence that I improved:

_____

The thing I am proud I did even though it was uncomfortable:

_____

_____

The communication skill I still need to build:

_____

FUTURE READY™ PASSPORT EVIDENCE

CAPSTONE CONNECTION

This week gives you something especially valuable:

evidence of growth.

Keep:

- what you believed before the experience
- your first attempt
- one uncomfortable moment
- feedback you received
- the adjustment you chose
- your second attempt
- evidence of improvement
- one unexpected question
- one moment of recovery
- what confidence means to you now

Your capstone should not only show what you completed.

It should show how you changed.

WEEK 12 CLOSE

I TRIED...

_____

I HEARD...

_____

I CHANGED...

_____

I TRIED AGAIN...

_____

I IMPROVED...

_____

I LEARNED...

_____

NEXT TIME I WILL...

_____

TRY. LISTEN. ADJUST. TRY AGAIN.
