BUILD6™

WEEK 10 · Professional Curiosity + Business Literacy

Julie + Eric - Ask Better. Listen Better. Connect Better.

ACTIVITY KIT / ADD-ONS / TOOLKIT

Use these as modular add-ons. Coach Jones may run one full activity or combine short rounds. Keep students moving, speaking, deciding, practicing and retrying.

ACTIVITY 1 · Weak Question / Strong Question

Students transform closed, generic questions into specific, open-ended professional questions.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- Which question or follow-up showed the strongest curiosity today, and what made it stronger?
- Professional Question Set + Julie & Eric Connection Record + Thank-You/Follow-Up
- Preserve one professional connection story: what you researched, the question you asked, what you learned, and the next action you chose because of the conversation.

ACTIVITY 2 · 20-Second Introduction

Students introduce themselves naturally without reciting a biography.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- Which question or follow-up showed the strongest curiosity today, and what made it stronger?
- Professional Question Set + Julie & Eric Connection Record + Thank-You/Follow-Up
- Preserve one professional connection story: what you researched, the question you asked, what you learned, and the next action you chose because of the conversation.

ACTIVITY 3 · Follow-Up Ladder

A partner gives a short answer; the student must ask two follow-ups based only on what was actually said.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- Which question or follow-up showed the strongest curiosity today, and what made it stronger?
- Professional Question Set + Julie & Eric Connection Record + Thank-You/Follow-Up
- Preserve one professional connection story: what you researched, the question you asked, what you learned, and the next action you chose because of the conversation.

ACTIVITY 4 · Listen for Opportunity

Students identify a problem, stakeholder, role, decision and possible next step hidden inside a simulated professional conversation.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- Which question or follow-up showed the strongest curiosity today, and what made it stronger?
- Professional Question Set + Julie & Eric Connection Record + Thank-You/Follow-Up
- Preserve one professional connection story: what you researched, the question you asked, what you learned, and the next action you chose because of the conversation.

ACTIVITY 5 · Professional Connection Record

Students capture what they learned, what surprised them, what they want to explore and an appropriate follow-up.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- Which question or follow-up showed the strongest curiosity today, and what made it stronger?
- Professional Question Set + Julie & Eric Connection Record + Thank-You/Follow-Up
- Preserve one professional connection story: what you researched, the question you asked, what you learned, and the next action you chose because of the conversation.