WEEK 10 · Professional Curiosity + Business Literacy

Julie + Eric - Ask Better. Listen Better. Connect Better.

FACILITATOR GUIDE

Week Purpose

Enter a professional room prepared, understand how people and organizations create value, ask intelligent questions, listen for opportunity, and follow up.

Essential Question

What can I learn from a professional conversation that I cannot learn from a website?

Skills

- Professional curiosity
- Active listening
- Question design
- Business literacy
- Professional introductions
- Relationship building
- Follow-up

Weekly Rhythm

Monday · Catch-Up + Curiosity Reset

Finish missing work and identify what you genuinely want to understand about work, business, or career paths.

Facilitator note: Monday is primarily catch-up, accountability and discussion. Do not overload it with new instruction.

- What unfinished work needs attention?
- What do I genuinely want to understand better?
- What makes a professional conversation worth having?

Tuesday · Curiosity Lab

Practice a concise introduction, turn weak questions into strong questions, and use follow-ups based on what was actually said.

- My 20-second professional introduction
- A weak question
- A stronger open-ended question
- Two natural follow-up questions

Wednesday · Julie + Eric Research + Question Design

Use only confirmed/public information available to class. Research their work, industry, problems solved, stakeholders and prepare 3-5 thoughtful questions.

Facilitator note: Run the activity exactly enough that students practice, receive feedback, and can explain what they learned.

- Confirmed/public information
- Problems they/their organizations solve
- Customers / clients / members / partners / stakeholders
- My 3-5 thoughtful questions

Thursday · Live Professional Conversation

Listen for business problems, decisions, roles, unexpected career paths and opportunity clues. Ask at least one thoughtful question or follow-up.

- Something that surprised me
- How they create value
- A role / idea / connection I want to explore
- The best follow-up question I asked or wish I asked

Friday · Thank-You + Connection Record

Complete missing work, write a professional thank-you/follow-up, and decide what or who to explore next.

Facilitator note: Finish missing work first, then reflection, thank-you/follow-up when appropriate, and portfolio/capstone evidence.

- My thank-you/follow-up message
- What surprised me most?
- Who/what should I stay connected to or explore next?
- Portfolio/capstone evidence

Coach Jones - Wednesday Run of Show

1. Weak Question / Strong Question - Students transform closed, generic questions into specific, open-ended professional questions.

2. 20-Second Introduction - Students introduce themselves naturally without reciting a biography.

3. Follow-Up Ladder - A partner gives a short answer; the student must ask two follow-ups based only on what was actually said.

4. Listen for Opportunity - Students identify a problem, stakeholder, role, decision and possible next step hidden inside a simulated professional conversation.

Facilitator Questions

- What did you notice?
- What changed after feedback or a second attempt?
- Where would this matter in a real workplace?
- What decision did the student own instead of outsourcing?
- What evidence should be saved for portfolio or capstone?

Midweek Reflection

Which question or follow-up showed the strongest curiosity today, and what made it stronger?

Friday Reflection

What did I learn from Julie and Eric that I could not have learned from a website, and what will I do with that information?

Capstone Connection

Preserve one professional connection story: what you researched, the question you asked, what you learned, and the next action you chose because of the conversation.
