BUILD6™

WEEK 12 · Communication Under Pressure

Michelle Boudin - Think. Respond. Recover.

ACTIVITY KIT / ADD-ONS / TOOLKIT

Use these as modular add-ons. Coach Jones may run one full activity or combine short rounds. Keep students moving, speaking, deciding, practicing and retrying.

ACTIVITY 1 · First Take / Coach / Second Take

Students respond on camera or on stage, receive one precise coaching note, then immediately retry.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- What pressure reaction did I notice in myself, and what recovery technique helped me remain credible?
- Before/After Communication Evidence + Panel/Conflict Feedback + Michelle Boudin Coaching Reflection
- Preserve a before/after communication example: what pressure did to your first attempt, the feedback you received, what you changed, and evidence that your second attempt was stronger.

ACTIVITY 2 · Unexpected Question Round

Students answer short unscripted questions without rushing or overexplaining.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- What pressure reaction did I notice in myself, and what recovery technique helped me remain credible?
- Before/After Communication Evidence + Panel/Conflict Feedback + Michelle Boudin Coaching Reflection
- Preserve a before/after communication example: what pressure did to your first attempt, the feedback you received, what you changed, and evidence that your second attempt was stronger.

ACTIVITY 3 · Pressure + Conflict Lab

Students practice disagreement, correction, criticism, interruption and professional boundaries.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- What pressure reaction did I notice in myself, and what recovery technique helped me remain credible?
- Before/After Communication Evidence + Panel/Conflict Feedback + Michelle Boudin Coaching Reflection
- Preserve a before/after communication example: what pressure did to your first attempt, the feedback you received, what you changed, and evidence that your second attempt was stronger.

ACTIVITY 4 · Panel Hot Seat

Students rotate panelist, interviewer, moderator and observer roles with curveball questions.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- What pressure reaction did I notice in myself, and what recovery technique helped me remain credible?
- Before/After Communication Evidence + Panel/Conflict Feedback + Michelle Boudin Coaching Reflection
- Preserve a before/after communication example: what pressure did to your first attempt, the feedback you received, what you changed, and evidence that your second attempt was stronger.

ACTIVITY 5 · Recovery Language Drill

Students practice concise phrases for pausing, clarifying, admitting uncertainty and correcting themselves.

Run It

- Explain the situation and success target in under 90 seconds.
- Put students into pairs or teams and assign roles when useful.
- Run the first attempt quickly - do not overcoach before students try.
- Stop and ask one observation question.
- Give one precise coaching point or introduce a curveball.
- Retry immediately.
- Debrief by connecting the activity to a real workplace, interview, project, customer, team or professional relationship.

Evidence to Capture

- What pressure reaction did I notice in myself, and what recovery technique helped me remain credible?
- Before/After Communication Evidence + Panel/Conflict Feedback + Michelle Boudin Coaching Reflection
- Preserve a before/after communication example: what pressure did to your first attempt, the feedback you received, what you changed, and evidence that your second attempt was stronger.